voluntary work

Over the past year, I've actively contributed to the nonprofit organization Foodsharing, focusing on raising awareness about the waste of our resources. This experience has deepened my understanding of sustainability and community engagement, reaffirming my dedication to creating a positive impact.

interests

My interests reveal a creative and dynamic personality. I enjoy pottery, stitching, and digital art for their imaginative outlets. Cooking and gardening fascinate me, and bouldering feeds my adventurous side, motivating me to conquer both physical and mental hurdles. These passions define me as a versatile individual, constantly seeking new avenues for creativity.
